No knowing the whys or wherefores
No need for history, she'd seen it all
Crimson eyelids at half mast ~ askance
A sign for most to keep their distance

I loved but did not make love
No children come from ancient stone
Long noble nose and tanned granite skin
Silent looks, and my love grows

I do not remember how we met
We did not linger or hang on to each other
As the tide recedes I'm no longer wet
Somehow she left, we left together

Carved by the elements, a harsh beauty
Do not question what you see
Never together through eternity
A stone, a goddess, the sphinx
